1. The initial running of a five-day Agency devices orientation course was completed at [REDACTED] on 2 July 1954. This course is designed to familiarize Agency personnel with the capabilities and limitations of special devices developed under the auspices of the Technical Services Staff (TSS).

2. At the request of TSS, arrangements have been made to present a three-day demolitions refresher course at [REDACTED]. The course began on 14 July with four students participating.

3. Plans have been completed for presentation of one-day capsule courses for each of the field training programs conducted at [REDACTED]. These programs will be offered to training officers and senior members of the foreign divisions in order to acquaint them in a general way with the substantive content of the field program. The first offering will be a presentation by the staff of the Clandestine Field Activities Course on 2 August 1954.

5. The revised Phase I of the Basic Intelligence Course (BIC(I)) started on 6 July with thirty students enrolled. In addition to Agency personnel, this class includes a representative from the National Security Agency.
